Lorenz Reviews New Traffic Safety Laws

More traffic safety is the goal of new laws passed by the 75th General Assembly. These new laws, aimed at making driving safer for Illinois motorists were discussed in a radio program from Springfield by Francis S. Lorenz, director of the Illinois Department of Public Works and Buildings, and his guest, Warren A. Frick, traffic engineer of the Illinois Division of Highways.

The law concerning the use of headlights was amended by the legislators, Mr. Frick pointed out. A driver is now required to dim his headlights when he is within 500 feet of another approaching from the opposite direction. When a driver is overtaking a car going in the same direction, he must dim his headlights within a distance of 300 feet. The new regulation will hopefully eliminate the glare of headlights in a rearview mirror which can be a serious hazard to drivers.

Director Lorenz stressed the importance of a new law concerning the use of turn signals. Many accidents happen, the Director pointed out, because motorists fail to communicate with each other. Neither driver knows what the other is going to do. Under the new law, turn signals must be used continuously for not less than 100 feet before turning within a business or residential district and not less than 200 feet in a rural area prior to the time the turn is made.

The new law also requires that a turn signal be used when a car starts from a parallel parked position. Turn signals that flash on one side only are not to be used on a parked or disabled vehicle. An emergency system that flashes all four turn signals at the same time is desirable on these vehicles. The law also requires the use of turn signals when changing lanes.

The large number of pedestrians killed on the highways also prompted the legislators to enact a law requiring pedestrians to use sidewalks when they are available and an edge of the pavement facing oncoming traffic when sidewalks are not available.

Towns To Observe Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 8

Fire Prevention Week—Oct. 8-14 offers a special opportunity to bring much needed information on fire hazards and corrective action to the people of our community.

Fire prevention should be taught in every primary and intermediate school throughout the nation. "It is at the early ages that children learn the most quickly, if children between the ages of five and twelve are taught what fire is and how fire hazards can be avoided, it will benefit them all their lives.

Schools have an obligation not only to protect the children while they are receiving their education, but also to teach children to protect themselves. Fortunately most schools recognize the need for teaching fire prevention, but fire safety education should not be a one-shot lecture. Fire prevention instruction should be given to students periodically, there should be refresher lessons on protection against fire at least as often as school fire drills are held.

Although fire cost more than $1.8 billion in losses last year, its most terrible cost is counted, not in dollars, but in human misery.

Fire claimed 12,100 lives in this country last year. Of these, over one-third were children. These are heavy costs to pay for an act of negligence or ignorance. Through knowledge and care, destructive fires can be virtually eliminated.

Focus On Club Achievements During National 4-H Week

National 4-H Week is being observed both nationally and locally Sept. 30 to Oct. 7, and will salute 4-H'ers everywhere. With the theme -- 4-H, a World of Opportunity, activities will focus on local, state, national and international achievements of the head, heart, hands and health program.

Window displays throughout Will county make up one phase of the observance. Area clubs and the locations of their displays are: Lincoln Lassies, Seamon's Food Store, Route 30, Lincoln Estates; New Lenox Bluebirds, Hutchins Cleaners, Lincoln-Way Shopping Center, New Lenox; and the New Lenox Hayshakers, Swanberg Implement Co., Wolf Rd., Mokena.

Providing leadership for the clubs are adult 4-H leaders, both men and women who are volunteering their time and experience. Local 4-H Club leaders include: Mrs. William C. Bettenhausen of Frankfort, Green Garden Snip 'N' Snack; Mrs. Charles Jones, Mrs. Frank Kovar, and Mrs. William Frankenberg, all of Frankfort, Lincoln Lassies; Mrs. Carl Neuls and Mrs. William Miller, both of Mokena, Mokena Keenettes; Mrs. Kermit Nuelitzmann of New Lenox, New Lenox Bluebirds; Donald Warning of New Lenox, and Mr. and Mrs. John Chesnut Sr., of Mokena, the New Lenox Hayshakers.

The Will County 4-H Rally was held Oct. 2 at Francis 4-H Field near New Lenox. Local committee members attending, included Edward Bettenhausen of Frankfort, and Mary Helen Riley of Mokena.

4-H membership is open to any boy or girl between the ages of 9 and 19. Clubs are reorganizing for the new year and new clubs are being formed in the county. For further information, contact the County Extension Office, 100 Manhattan Rd., phone 723-2265 and 727-1173.

"Your child can gain lifetime benefits by joining the 4-H Club program," says Associate Extension Adviser (Agriculture), Webster E. Bay. "4-H club work is an educational program sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture."

The 4-H Project is a vital key in club work, according to Bay. Project requirements help your child gain knowledge and learn new skills. Project also provides a way to recognize work well done. Hundreds of certificates, medals and premiums are awarded each year to boys and girls in all stages of 4-H work.

Club work adds poise and confidence to your child's abilities. 4-H'ers grow accustomed to public appearances as they exhibit projects, give talks and demonstrations and appear on 4-H programs.

Want To Start Your Own 4-H Club? Can Do

"If you want to be a 4-H member and there is no club in your neighborhood--start your own," advises Will County Associate Extension Adviser Webster E. Bay.

If you are between 9 and 19 years old, you can join 4-H regardless of where you live. There are only two things you must do to start a 4-H Club:

First, you must have five or more boys and girls who want to join. Many of your friends will want to join your new club.

Second, you must have an adult leader. Many 4-H leaders are parents of club members. Ask your parents or some of your friends parents to help lead your new club.

When you start a new club, you get to choose a club name, elect your own officers and select the projects and activities you like. Bay says you can have parties and tours, attend the 4-H show and learn more about the projects you select.

As a 4-H member, you can choose from more than 35 different projects. Popular projects are foods, clothing, electricity, photography, gardening, automotive care and safety, livestock, crops, dairy cattle, dog care, bicycling, handicraft and bird study. Some others are poultry, rabbits, entomology, baby-sitting, home grounds improvement, geology, small engines, tractor care and safety and wood-working.

According to Bay, camping, public speaking, recreation, music judging and safety are some of the special activities your club can select.

Talk to your friends, find an adult leader and call your county extension advisers at 727-1173 or 723-2265, Joliet. They will be glad to help you start your own 4-H Club.

4-H is more than champion steers, sewing lessons, cooking schools and blue ribbons, according to Webster Bay, Will County Associate Extension Adviser, Agriculture and Barbara Harris, Will County Assistant Extension Adviser, Home Economics. They point out that it is a way of life for more than 2 1/4 million boys and girls across the country.

Drawing participants from the 9 to 19-year-old age group, 4-H combines the best of learning and fun. It offers a wide variety of projects and activities which emphasize "learning by doing," and rewards the boys and girl for personal growth and achievement.

Young people may choose their own individual 4-H projects from more than 35 offered. These range from the traditional beef calf, poultry, gardens, foods and clothing to automotive, career exploration, photography and baby sitting. The young scientist may choose a project in entomology, electricity, conservation or others. And there are projects too, for the young owner of dogs and horses.

Boys and girls like 4-H for the many activities and projects it offers groups and clubs. The 4-H Clubs may select such worthwhile activities and projects as--community beautification, safety, health, recreation leadership and conservation. Volunteer adult leaders help guide and advise members of community and neighborhood 4-H Clubs.

Now is a good time for boys and girls to join 4-H, according to the Extension Advisers. Clubs throughout the county are being reorganized and new clubs are just starting. To find out how to join 4-H in your own area, contact the Will County Extension Offices at 100 Manhattan Road in Joliet, phone 727-1173 (Agriculture) or 723-2265 (Home E-

Nature Bulletin From Forest Preserve Dist.

In the summer of 1956 we had a plague of Periodical Cicadas, or "17-year locusts" in the Chicago region. There were countless millions of them during June and early July, clattering thru the air or crawling on trees and bushes. Insect-eating birds and mammals got fat. The "song" of just one male cicada sounds like a buzz saw going thru a log, and the metallic screeching of millions -- sometimes a continuous clamor, sometimes rising and falling in waves -- made a nerve -- wracking din. People were frightened when those big insects, actually harmless but fearsome in appearance, lit and crawled upon them. It was like a bad dream. Then they disappeared but their progeny will return in 1973.

That was Brood XIV, so labelled by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. There are many broods of the 17-year Periodical Cicada -- some very numerous and widely distributed; others small and local -- which emerge in different years. There are also several broods, mostly in the south, which emerge every 13 years. One of these, a whopper, extends as far north as Illinois.

They are not locusts. They are by far the largest members of a great family of insects which have mouth parts for sucking the juices of plants but not for biting and chewing. This includes the spittle bugs, leaf hoppers, scale insects, and the aphids or plant lice.

The adult Periodical Cicada is about an inch long, with a stout brownish-black body and a large head with prominent reddish-orange eyes. The transparent wings, when held roof-like above the abdomen, extend beyond it. They have reddish margins and veins, with a black "W" near the end of each front wing.

The song of the male is produced by vibrating drum-like membranes over a pair of sound chambers on the abdomen. The female, laying from 400 to 600 eggs has a dagger-like ovipositor with which she makes a series of slits on the underside of tender twigs -- usually on an oak, a wild crab, or an apple tree. In each slit she lays from 12 to 20 eggs. In 6 or 7 weeks these hatch into ant-like nymphs which drop to the ground and burrow until each finds a tree rootlet -- anywhere from 1 to 10 feet down. There it remains for 13 to 17 years, sucking juice, until fullgrown. Then it tunnels to the surface and emerges, usually at night, crawls up on a tree or a weed stem and clings there. Presently, its skin splits down the back and an adult appears. From 10,000 to 40,000 may emerge from the ground beneath one large tree but usually there is no noticeable damage from the feeding of the nymphs upon its rootlets, nor from the sucking of sap from its twigs by the short-lived adults. However, the twigs punctured to receive the eggs usually die, drop off, and cause some injury.

Three OUTDOOR EDUCATIONAL WORKSHOPS for Teachers, sponsored by the Cook County and Chicago superintendents of schools, will be held at Camp Sagawau this fall: Oct. 4, 5, 6; Oct. 11, 12, 13; Oct. 18, 19, 20. Application blanks have been sent to each school and its superintendent.

For information call Miss Hill: Columbus 1-8400

or Forest 9-9420

There are many species of cicadas in North America. The common dog-day cicada, or harvest fly, which we hear whirring continuously every August, is much larger, has greenish margins on its wings, and is believed to have a 2-year life cycle.

After so long underground, no wonder they celebrate.

SHELLEY GOES TO SCHOOL--Last year hundreds of persons helped and hoped and maybe prayed for this youngster suffering from cerebral palsy. A program was launched at Orland Park under which teams were set up--five persons to a team--who gave Shelley Gendron a five minute treatment, four times a day--and every day, to train a new motor control center in her brain. Now this fall Shelley will be attending the special classes at Tinley Heights School, 169 and Odell. (Cerny photo)

Thoughtless Parents Are Traffic Hazards

School Safety Patrol boys and girls have taken to their posts, protecting their classmates as they walk to and from school, but thoughtless parents may be making their job difficult when driving into the school area, according to the Chicago Motor Club - AAA.

Gerald W. Cavanagh, CMC president, appealed to parents to follow some basic safety rules when they drive their children to and from school.

"Parents can be serious traffic hazards around school buildings and school bus stops where there is a heavy concentration of child traffic," Cavanagh said. "Without meaning to, they can be very thoughtless."

Cavanagh listed 10 rules for parents who must drive their children to or from school:

1. Drive children to and from school only if absolutely necessary. Going to and from school on their own can teach children self-reliance and better prepare them to meet other everyday problems.
2. Wherever possible, pool rides with neighbors to reduce the number of cars going to and from school areas.
3. Have a designated location to meet your child. This should be on the school side of the street, away from the crosswalk or corner and, if possible, on a different side of the school building from that which the pedestrian children are using. Let your child out at the same location.

4. Arrange, if possible, with the school principal to dismiss children with rides, and those who walk from different sides of the school building. Or, dismiss one group slightly earlier than the other.

5. Do not double park.

6. Avoid the necessity for driving your child to school because of a late start. Get him ready in plenty of time so that he can walk or take the school bus.

7. Use more than ordinary caution when approaching a school.

8. Have your child sit on the seat and use the seat belt.

9. Lock all doors. Children can be taught to do this for themselves.

10. Know and have respect for all traffic laws and school regulations.

Not To Rush Season But Here Is Yule Stamp For 1967

Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien announced today that the 1967 Christmas stamp will duplicate last year's design, but will be printed nearly twice as large according to Lester Brown New Lenox postmaster.

The stamp reproduces a portion of Hans Memling's "Madonna and Child with Angels," a 15th century Flemish oil painting that hangs in the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D. C.

The 5-cent special stamp for the holidays will be issued Nov. 6 with first day ceremonies at Bethlehem, Ga. It is the sixth in the series of Christmas stamps, and the first to be printed commemorative size.

Increasing the stamp size from the .75 x .87 dimensions of regular stamps to the .84 x 1.44 of commemoratives results in an area 85% larger in which to capture the rich details of Memling's painting. It also permits more effective cropping, so that more of the Madonna's blue gown and more of the orange, blue and green tapestry in the background will appear in this year's version.

Memling painted the scene on wood about 1480. It measures about 18 x 23 inches and is regarded as an excellent example of the detail the German-born artist lavished on this work.

Postmaster General O'Brien's Citizens' Stamp Advisory Committee recommended that the design be repeated and issued in commemorative size.

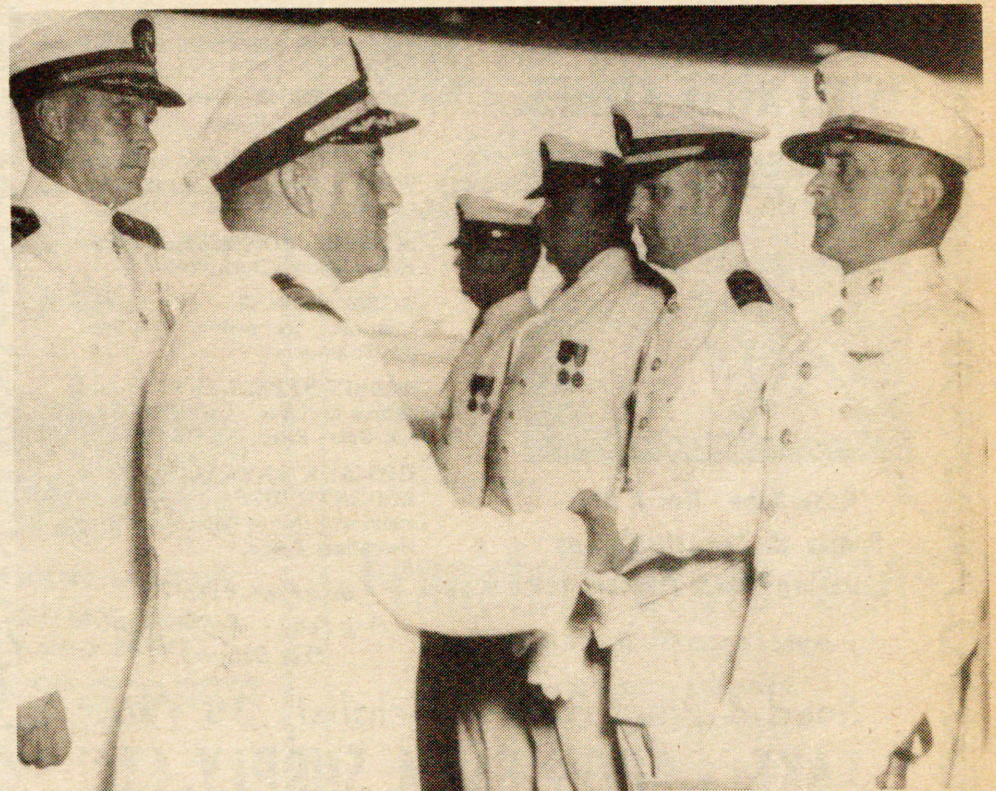

Last year's Christmas stamp brought the Post Office Department a flood of mail in praise of the design and the technical excellence of the reproduction by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Bethlehem, Ga. 30620. A close-fitting enclosure of postal card thickness should be placed in each envelope and the flap either turned in or sealed. The envelope to the Postmaster should be endorsed "FIRST DAY COVERS 5¢ CHRISTMAS STAMP." Orders must not include requests for uncanceled stamps. Requests must be postmarked no later than Nov. 6, 1967.

Board Of Education Files Certificate Of Tax Levy

At their September meeting, the Mokena board of education -- District 159 -- has set up its regular meeting date schedule for the school year. All regular meetings will be held on Wednesday on the following dates: Oct. 11, Oct. 25, Nov. 8, Nov. 22, Dec. 13, Jan. 10, Jan. 24, Feb. 14, Feb. 28, March 13, March 27, April 10, April 24, May 8, May 22, June 12, June 26.

The meetings will be held at Carpenter Street School in the district office. All meetings will begin at 7:30 p.m.

In other business, the board reviewed the annual audit conducted by the firm Ernst & Ernst of Chicago. Mr. Bruce Wargo, Auditor for the firm, attended the meeting.

The board filed the certificate of tax levy with the county clerk. The amounts are: $9,500 for transportation purposes, $125,000 for educational purposes, $30,000 for building purposes, $3,200 for Municipal Retirement purposes, $6,000 for working cash purposes, and $6,000 for fire prevention and safety purposes, and $38,666.76 to be used for bond and interest payments for new buildings.

On Saturday, Oct. 7, the Mokena Lions Club will sponsor their annual windshield wash on the corners of Front and Mokena Streets. Chairman of the project is Roger Wellman.

S/Sgt. Robert W. Peterson Jr. of the U. S. Army, has returned to his post, after spending a 30 day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Peterson Sr., South Woodland Circle. He and his wife, Margaret, has returned to Erie, Pa., before going to Vietnam, where he will spend a year there before returning to the states.

The Men's Club of St. John's United Church of Christ will sponsor a steak fry, Saturday, Oct. 7 in Fellowship Hall of the church. Servings will be at 5, 6 and 7 p.m. Persons may purchase tickets from any member of the brotherhood or at the door.

The menu will include besides the steak, baked potato, tossed salad, kidney bean salad, French bread, coffee or milk and ice cream.

Proceeds will be used toward the church treasury. The public is invited to attend.

Word was received recently of the death of a former Mokena resident, James Fassett who resided on the corner of First and Division street died last week in a hospital at Coral Gables, Fla. due to a heart condition.

He and his wife Grace and daughter Carol moved to Orlando, Fla. from Mokena about 10 years ago where his family had an orange grove. Later the Fassetts moved to Coral Gables.

Funeral service and interment was at Orlando.

While living in Mokena he served one term as trustee on the local village board and was employed with the Illinois Bell Telephone Company in Chicago.

The Naomi Circle of the Methodist Church will sponsor a bake sale on Saturday, Oct. 7, at 10:00 a.m. at the Cooper Hostert garage, Front St. For more information, please call 479-5745.

The Mokena fire siren has been placed on the water tower for better coverage throughout the area.

The alert and take cover cycles have not been changed but the fire tone will be slightly altered in the next few days.

At a recent meeting Roy Koerner was elected president; Robert Rust, chief; Bill Haas, assistant chief; Ron Guendling, treasurer, and Marvin Bormet, director.

Project Clean-Up will get underway on Oct. 17. As it was announced earlier, the Village is sponsoring a junk pick up for the village only, however, through the cooperative efforts of the Mokena Civic Organization and the Mokena Lions Club, there will also be a junk pick-up in the residential areas around Mokena on the same day. The junk pick-up will coincide with the regular garbage pick up.

Nu-Way Disposal Service has asked that the residents of Mokena and environs follow a few rules to help the pick-up men do a faster and better job. All junk is to be put into containers if at all possible. Large pieces of junk, such as pipe from old swing sets, tree branches, bed springs, etc. must be cut into 4 foot lengths and tied into bundles. They will not take away construction or building materials. Junk is to be placed with the garbage cans.

This is a golden opportunity for citizens to clean out their garages, attics and basements along with clearing out their yards and alleyways of the un-lovely sights of rusting metal and plain old JUNK.

Exchange Vows At Candlelight Ceremony

Palms and twin gold vases of white gladioli and chrysanthemums decorated the altar of the New Lenox Methodist Church for the Aug. 19 double ring candlelight ceremony of Miss Diane Joyce Eden and Thomas Martin Fee.

Officiating at the ceremony were Rev. Ralph Miller, former pastor of the church, and Rev. Herbert George, present pastor. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Eden of New Lenox. The groom is the son of Mrs. Ethel Fee of Mokena, and the late Harry C. Fee.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white silk organza. Peau d'Ange lace fashioned the bateau neckline and short sleeves of the empire bodice, and created a border detail on the A-shaped skirt and the wide-spreading train, which swept to a chapel length, falling beneath a bustle bow of silk organza. Her polonaise veil of silk French illusion was held in place by a pearl-studded lace caplet. She carried an ethereal cascade of stephanotis, phalaenopsis orchids, and baby's breath.

Preceding the bride down the aisle was her maid of honor, Miss Carol Hughes of New Lenox. She chose China blue chiffon for her toe-touching gown, accented with a banding of satin at the empire waistline. She wore a high-standing chiffon tiara with a modified veil of illusion in a matching shade.

Attired identically were Miss Pat DeGries and Miss Candi Smith of Mokena, Miss Dawn McCleary of New Lenox, bridesmaids, and Miss

Candice Fee of Mokena, sister of the groom, junior bridesmaid.

Each wore pendant pearl necklaces, gifts from the bride, and carried identical pendant bouquets of gladioli and blue daisies.

The flower girl, four-year-old Lori Niemann of Beecher, niece of the groom, was a miniature of the bridesmaids in a gown accurately copied by Mrs. Howard Kitter of Mokena. Her blond tresses were topped by daisies on a blue silk organza bow. She carried a little white basket of rose petals.

The ringbearer was Larry Niemann, also of Beecher, nephew of the groom.

Craig (Tuck) Marshall of Palos Heights, was best man. Ushers were David Eden, brother of the bride, and Edward Tatro of New Lenox, Terry Mueller of Mokena, and Alvin Winslow of Joliet, brother-in-law of the bride.

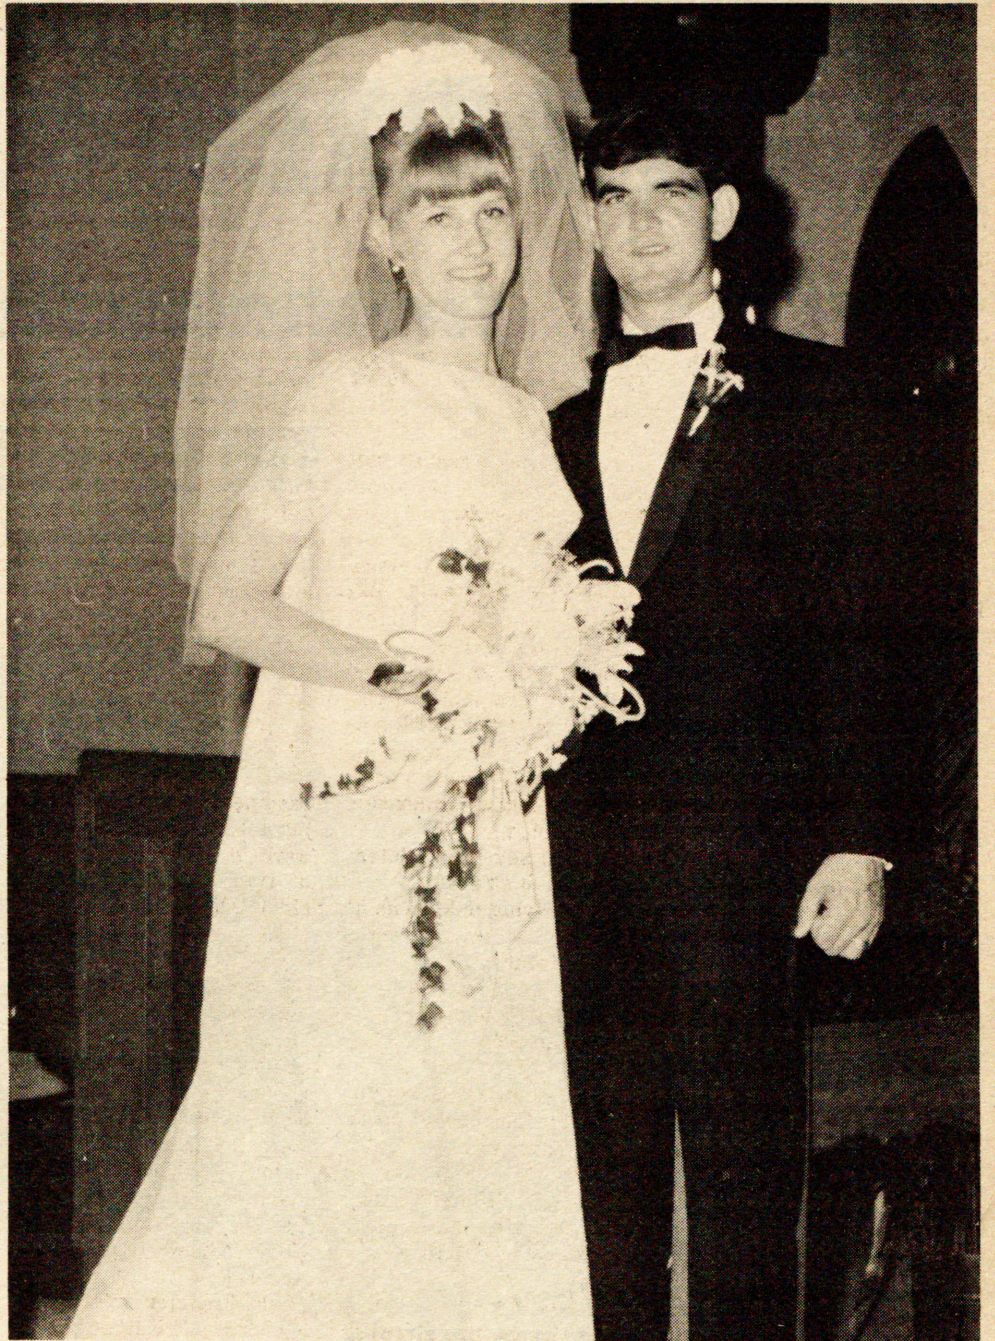

Appropriate wedding selections were played by Miss Linda Turnbough, organist, and the guest soloist was Mrs. Dennis Pfeifer.

The reception and buffet supper was held immediately following the ceremony in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Eden, wore a French blue crepe sheath, topped by a long-sleeved ribbon net cage with a cowl neckline, and matching accessories.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Fee, chose a shocking pink sheath under a mantilla lace cage coat, and white sequin accessories. Both mothers wore similar corsages of pink baby rosebuds imbedded in white carnations.

Mrs. Alvin (Sandra) Winslow, sister of the bride, was in charge of cutting the five-tiered cake, and Mrs. Craig Cameron handled the guest book.

Voters Pass School Building Bond Issue

Voters of New Lenox School District 122 approved decisively a $575,000 school building bond issue in a special election held Saturday, Sept. 23.

741 votes were cast with 536 in favor of the issue and 203 opposed. Two ballots cast were spoiled.

The Board of Education expressed appreciation to the voters for their fine turnout in support of this proposal to provide urgently needed educational facilities for the boys and girls of the school district.

Architects engaged by the board are busy completing final drawings in preparation for the bidding procedure necessary to award construction contracts.

The proposal includes additions to the Haines and Oakview Schools. Part of the project is expected to be completed by September, 1968 which will provide facilities for the expected enrollment increase.

Sandburg Guidance Dept. Will Beef Up Vocational Services

More help for the job-seeking high school student is on the way at Carl Sandburg High School.

Don Horn, a freshman counselor last year, has been appointed Vocational Counselor for the high school. He will continue as a regular counselor also. Horn will coordinate the various student-work programs that will be underway this fall.

A file of occupational, training, and employment information will be available to students, vocational teachers, and other faculty members. Horn will also prepare written, visual, and audio-visual aids and materials to assist guidance personnel and teachers in providing realistic occupational information.

Maintaining and increasing contacts with local businessmen, civic groups, professional associations, that may be a source of jobs or career information for high schoolers, will be a big part of Horn's duties, James Adcock, guidance director, said.

Sandburg has students who attend class part of the day, and are to go out for on-the-job-training the other part. Distributive education classes will learn retail store fundamentals at school, and will be available for jobs in department stores, dime stores, drug stores, service stations, shoe stores, wholesale houses, and other similar businesses. Another Sandburg class, Visual Communications, is helping selected students learn fundamentals of food service, menu planning and printing, so they may be useful workers in restaurants.

Horn will assist in placing these and other students in part-time jobs.

Each counselor this year will work with freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors. The students are divided alphabetically among the counselling staff. A more even distribution of students among the five counselors is one advantage of changing.

Counselors are Mrs. Jean Leever, Mrs. Marilyn Rick, Miss Almyra Ravenhill, Vernon Hoermann, and Mr. Horn.

"October Palette"

One of the final art fairs for 1967 will be sponsored by the West Suburban Fine Arts Alliance and Northern Illinois Gas Company. Called "October Palette, the Best of 1967", the show will bring together all the prize winning artists from Chicago's suburban area art fairs in a two-day exhibit, Oct. 14 and 15.

All art works will be displayed in the NI-Gas General Office near Aurora, on Highway 59 and the East-West Tollway. The more than 150 exhibitors will display paintings, oils and sculptures from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day.

The exhibiting artists will represent the thirteen art leagues of the Alliance and other leagues from the northern and southern suburbs and out-of-state. There are gold medal winners of the Palette and Chisel; exhibitors from the Vincent Price Collection; winners of the University of Illinois regional and state awards, Burton Place and the Golden Mile; and popular vote selections from the Illinois State Fair.
